

A Gift - A resource found/offered in the right place, at the right time for the right reasons - a practical solution for your self on this plane, provided by your Self, your Higher Self/Consciousness.

Your next step:

As a result of your thinking, something or someone, is showing up in your reality to support you on your way. The void you created is filling according to your accumulated subconscious thoughts, emotions and habits. Gifts are consequences. So be aware of your thoughts and behaviours, clear them of out-of-date emotional clutter to receive what you REALLY want. This is how Consciousness works on a practical level.

A gift arrives in physical, emotional or mental form - as shelter, clothing, food, or an omen hinting at the right attitude you can use to resolve an issue or receive a goal. Or it can be an idea, a reminder to read that book, remember a conversation, do a task, move a muscle more, or proceed more carefully with your plan ... whatever it is, it is a gift designed specifically to your needs at this time by your Consciousness -

Embrace the gifts, the resources, as they arrive.
