

Gateway – this requires a decision to progress from this point in your life, once you pass this point there is no return.

Your next step:

Is to acknowledge you are at a 'Y' intersection in your life. You need to make a decision AND let it be known ... to your Higher Self ... by your deeds. You do have free will, a choice, and many more choices, about how and what you want to experience during this life here in this dimension. And just to remind you of this, certain moments in life produce the "What If?" question or turning point. At which time you can explore the possible outcomes in your mind, but at some point, to actually evolve and move on, you need to demonstrate, actively do, your decision.

Unbeknown to many, it IS your life and you DO have a say in the outcomes you experience. Based on your experience to date, what do you NOW know you want to experience? Once you know what you REALLY want, and show that you have made this decision by doing the actions that support it –

You will experience the feedback in your reality and be able to tweak the outcomes until they feel right for you.

Marianne Thorne
CreativeGoalSetting.com