

Wholeness – your entire reality, including your past and potential, is your Consciousness; it is meant to be with you in your mind.

Your next step:

Is to collect the 'pieces' of your consciousness to your self, to pull your scattered energy back. Apart from any dodgy relationships you have experienced that left you feeling drained, "heart-broken", etc, you have also given your energy to others without your conscious consent. Maybe wasted time at jobs or electronic games that involved you emotionally but gave nothing in return. Unlike real life interaction, relationships, with those you love and respect. Your opinions, hopes and fears, voiced at deaf electronic machines (TV, radio) or shared across social media have not made a difference; your money (representing your time, effort and creativity) has been wasted on fraudulent 'causes' and corporations.

This massive syphoning of your energy happened as you were distracted, draw it back and become the powerful Being that you actually are, and constructively cause further good for the Highest Good of all concerned by being focused on your self -

Be the AUTHORITY of your life here on this plane.

Marianne Thorne
CreativeGoalSetting.com