

Signals – See the signs, observe and experience the feedback appearing in your reality.

Your next step:

Even if you have not asked for help specifically, a special 'Right Time, Right Place' intervention designed just for you is occurring; guiding you to do, be or have something differently. What is it? What is so important to you in this moment that is drawing this additional input, this new information or possibility?

Are you now aware of the idea that is going to change the direction you have otherwise chosen due to 'new' information?

If not, ask a how/what question of your Higher Mind to gain the clarity required to make a constructive decision about the Area of Life you are focused on –

While being observant and reading the signs along your way.
